

The World's Finest Homes Trust Smartvue®

From Palo Alto bungalows to Smokey Mountain hideaways, some of America's finest homes trust Smartvue. Award winning designs and wireless installation make it the designer's choice.

"We have contractors and cleaning people as well as yard maintenance people at our second home on a regular basis. I wanted a simple way to see what was happening when I was not there. My wife is amazingly particular about our home and when a surveillance company suggested drilling holes and running wires to install a box looking camera, she flat out said no. Once we saw the Smartvue system, we knew it was the right solution. Long range 802.11N wireless meant it would cover our whole house without wires and the award winning design fit my wife's needs without making our place look like a prison. Now I get text messages and e-mail alerts when people enter the home and I can also log in remotely.."
