

"network video that is depolyed quickly and easy to maintain" - IPVS

Leading Retail Stores Count on Smartvue®

Cinnamon Girl is one of Hawaii's most respected clothing brands.

"For the security of our retail stores, reduced liability, as well monitoring our team's in store performance, we selected the Smartvue wireless IP video systems. Setting up the solution in the store was simple using the long range wireless and automatic IP configuration that is built in. Our staff just plugged the network video recorder into our network, placed the cameras in their locations, and turned the system on. There was no focus or camera settings to make and no IP addresses to set. Within minutes we were viewing sharp, clear video in high resolution right on our PC. Since we travel from store to store extensively, we also view the cameras remotely from cell phones and PCs, all without expensive IT configurations and paying monthly fees. In addition, the award winning design of the cameras fits our décor better than what I have seen from most other surveillance companies.. This is a great addition to our store security as well as our retail business intelligence."
